ROUND OF GAIETIES AT THE HOT SPRINGS

Luncheons and Dinners, Moonlight Suppers and Motor Parties Add to Pleasures of Guests.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Virginia Hot Springs, October 15.— It is a merry whirl here these days, with a round of luncheons and dinners and at homes in the villa and hotel colonies, private car parties, motor parties and moonlight late supper parties at Fassenfern Farm, The Oaks, the Daniel Boone Log Cabin and the old Colonial Hotel at the Healing Springs.
With a hundred or more riders out every day on the bridge paths and the Boulevard thronged during the fashionable driving hours in the afternoon before the tea and concert hour at the Casino, and the golf and tennis tournaments of the week, the lovers of outdoor life and sport have had their fillings. The most strenuous person, perhaps, is James J. Van Allen, who, in spite of his three-score and more years, takes a long ride every day, then walks ten or twelve miles over the mountains.

Several smart dinners have been feasted at the villa and hotel and with the more informal supper parties at the farm house for saddle and backboard parties. Miss May Van Allen, Mrs. William H. Erhart and Jas.
J. Van Allen were among the guests at a dinner in the Grille given by Robert Graves on Monday evening. Miss Van Allen who has been several informal affairs at Fassenfern Farm, entertained at a luncheon in the Japanese Palm Room on Tuesday afternoon.
The company including Mrs. Reginald De Koven, Mrs. Erhart, Miss Elizabeth Latimer, Harry S. Black, Mr. Van Allen, Freeman A. Smith and Mr. Graves.

Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls, who entertained nearly 100 at tea at Ingallscoote on Sunday afternoon, was dinner hostess on Monday evening for a company of ten.

Harry S. Black, who has his private car, the "Night Star," here on a siding at the railroad station, has given several attractive entertainments aboard.
On Tuesday evening he gave a dinner.
Colored musicians and singers appeared, and the guests included, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Letter, Miss May Van Allen, Miss Clark H.
Yale Dolan, J. Stevens Uiman, J. Lor-mer Worden, Charles Hyams, Jr., Henry Rea and John Freeland.

The musicians and singers are in great demand and a feature of every large dinner or supper party here now is an old plantation concert. Mr. and Mrs. G. Maurice Hecksher, who entertained a large party at a late supper and moonlight dance at the Oaks this week, had the singers and players, who also furnished the dance music for the company, including Mr. and Mrs. August Hecksher, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Halkey, the Misses Elizabeth Latimer, Helen Beebe, Antoinette Heck-sher and Helen Judson, and E. Victor Loew, Fred Imman, Rudolph Neeser, Jarvis Geer and Arthur Hagemeyer.

Miss Mary Van Allen, who is here with Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Sears, of Boston, entertained at a charming tea on the Casino lawn on Monday afternoon for a group of debutantes and several girls who are coming out this season. The guests were the Misses Abbie Barnard, Caro Quinlan, Brown, Rosamond and Frances Burr, Louise Wetherbee and Dorothy Hancock, of Austin, Tex., who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Wetherbee, of Port Henry, who returned Sunday with Miss Louise Wetherbee to spend the fall season.

teas at the Casino has extended throughout the week. Mrs. Alexander Brown, Mrs. Matilda Alexander, Mrs.
Joseph Thaw, Mrs. Burke Roche, Lady Hadfield, Mrs. Mark Bristol, Mrs. Jose Aymar, Mrs. J. Stevens Uiman, E.

ning, Mrs. James L. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Letter, Jerome N. Bou-cotte, Edw. E. Roy Edgar, James I. Eddy and Mr. and Mrs. Rush Sturges were among those entertaining large parties.

a hotel cottage, and have as their guests the mother and sister of the latter, Mrs. R. Williams, and Miss Dorothy Williams, gave a luncheon at Fassenfern Sunday, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyams, Jr.,

Miller & Rhoads

Low Prices for Good Merchandise

Not to Shop at Miller & Rhoads' Is to Miss the Best!

We do not quote comparative prices or "values" in our advertising except on rare occasions, and then we make sure the statements are bona fide.

"Bargain" is a word that has become debased by misuse and abuse. People are realizing that a great majority of the so-called bargains are quite the reverse, proving costly in the end; and they have also discovered that the "values" are highly inflated.

In this store you will find prices to be as low as the lowest, consistent with the high quality of the merchandise. Goods are not misrepresented—never is a thing sold for what it isn't. And the time will come when the public will appreciate that all stores be operated upon this principle.
